A DELEGATE'S OPINION

That everything is not serene for the Farmer-Labor Reconstruction League and its ticket put in the field by the Shawnee convention is becoming apparent from the opinions being put forth here and there by delegates who attended the convention. The following editorial from the Idabel News was written by one of these delegates:

The Editor was a delegate from the McCurtain County Farmers Union to the Farmer-Labor Reconstruction League Convention held in Shawnee last Thursday and Friday. There were two other delegates from this county, R. C. Blocker from Shults local and W. T. Wilcoxson from the Thomas Chapel local. Since our return we have not conferred with the other representatives and know nothing about the report they have to make to their respective locals. The writer, however, has never attended a convention wherein the steam roller was so successfully applied. The roller evidently had been steaming for several months and was well oiled daily.

The convention was to Mayor Walton, of Oklahoma City, what the grand jury in Okmulgee was to Judge Christopher—"His pet baby"—and will react with a greater kick to the mayor than the grand jury did to the judge.

The convention either swiped Mayor Walton's platform or the mayor swiped that belonging to the convention. The mayor did not know what the convention stood for but said, "I don't give a DAM I am for it anyway." The convention did not know what the mayor stood for but the platforms were one and the same thing.

The farmer was made the goat, as usual, and their only request was overwhelmingly defeated when the name of J. A. Whitehurst was presented as president of the State Board of Agriculture. The writer in conversation with Hon. John Simpson, president of the Farmers Union, urged that he withhold Mr. Whitehurst's name and assured him it would be butchered before the convention—and that it would be impossible to elect the nominees of the convention, but it was put to a test anyway. Soon following the test the Farmers Union withdrew from the convention and to our mind should stay withdrawn.

Where is the Southern farmer regardless of political affiliation who would say give the negro the vote? Yet this is exactly what the convention would have done. The negro is alright and we are for him in his place, but the southern people will not tolerate the organization of the negro—that is enough said.

If the farmer believes in ring politics, and wants to be the goat, and believes that the negroes of the South should vote, he should get in behind the work and those in sympathy with the convention. If he does not believe in just this he should condemn it on every hand.

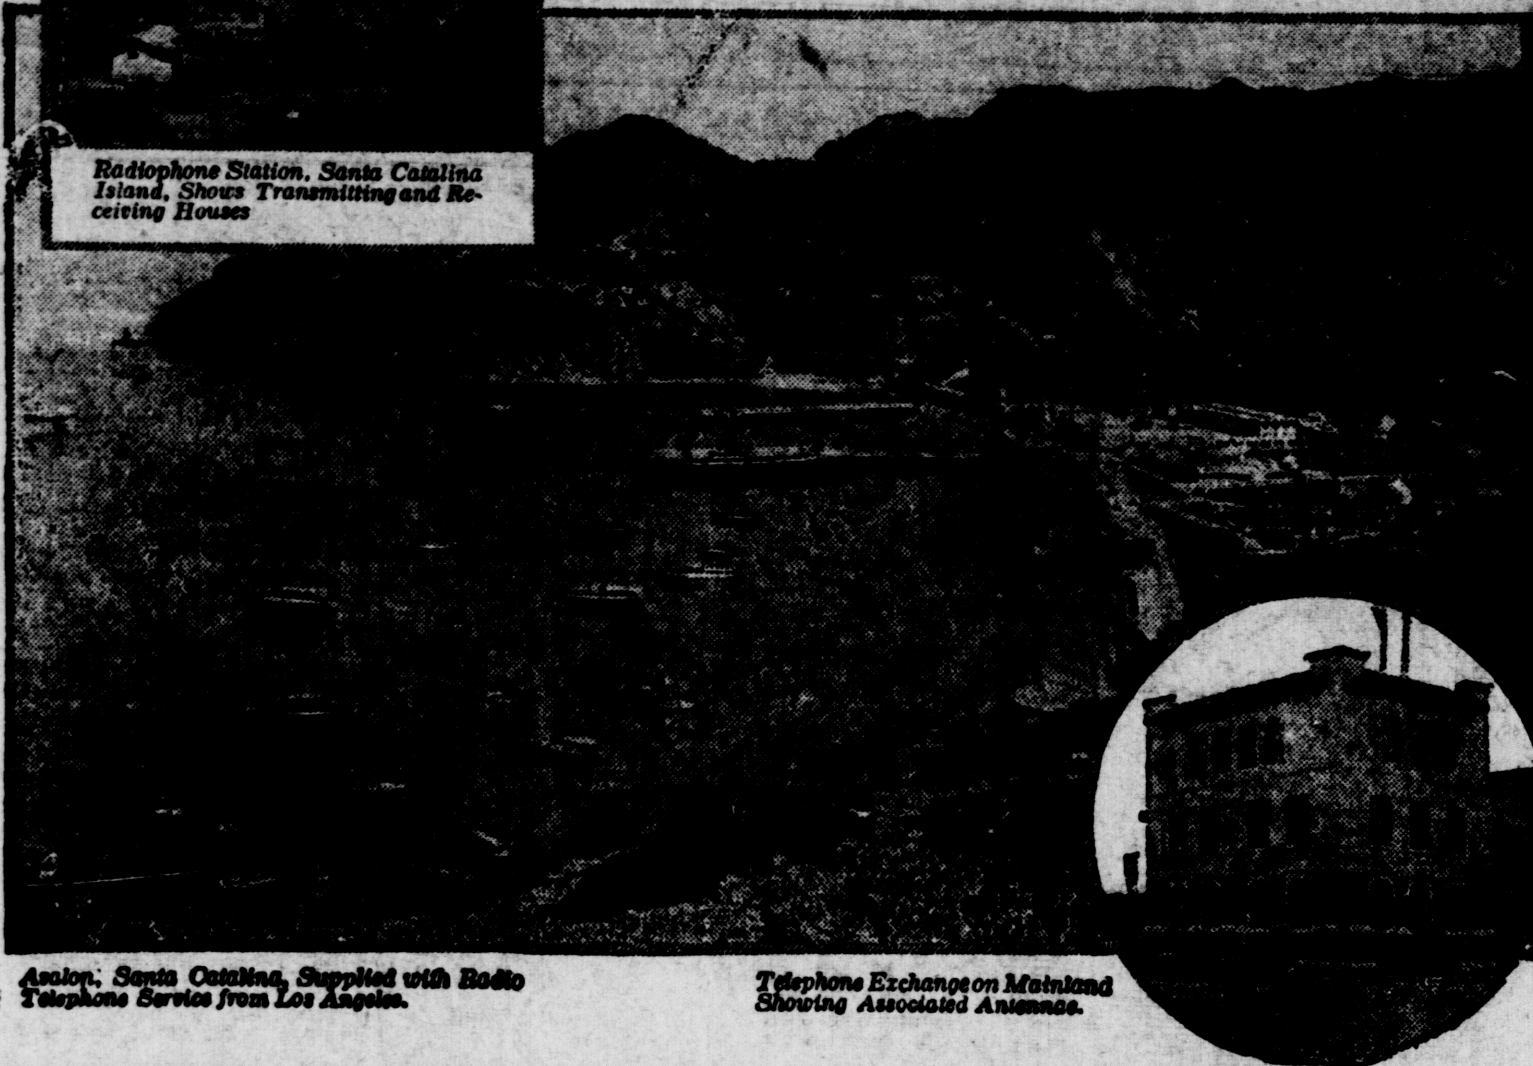

And now it is said that William Jennings Bryan has signified that he is not averse to going to the United States senate from Florida. Tom Watson and Bryan went to congress back in 1890, Watson served one term and remained at home on request of the voters, but staged a spectacular comeback two years ago and is now in the senate. If Bryan lands a similar job it will be something of a reunion. Both have been candidates for the presidency since beginning their political careers and now with a senate berth they will be prepared to take a tranquil view of the political sea upon the waves of which they have been so severely tossed and buffeted most of their lives.

As the East Central Teachers' College grows in the size of the student body and the character of the work becomes the most efficient in the state, the citizens of Ada realize more and more what the college means to the city. Appreciation of literature, art, science and the other things which go to make life not only profitable but pleasant is more noticeable than it was a few years ago, almost all of which is due to the influence of this educational institution. It is a rare privilege to live under the shadow of a great college, and the citizens of Ada realize they are greatly blessed in this respect.

Another evolution theory is now being advanced. Its author agrees with Darwin up to the point where man was evolved from the big apes, but he is of the opinion that the pigmies of Africa were the first developed from the apes, and that the rest of the human race gradually worked its way up from these negro pigmies and spread over the earth. Pigmies, not much above four feet in height, are still found in central Africa and show no signs of ever developing any further. Theories are pretty things to play with but the average man is too busy to bother about them, facts being what he is after.

To date, according to reports, the Germans have paid a little more than a billion and a half dollars on the big bill for damages assessed against them at Versailles. Perhaps some of them are now beginning to realize that they lost the war.

Ignoring the Soldiers.

(Lawton Constitution)
The other day Mansford McNider, national commander of the American Legion appeared at the White House and asked for an audience with President Harding, his object being to discuss with the president the soldier bonus bill. Harding refused to see him.

McNider represents several million soldiers, who valiantly sacrificed everything for the nation and yet the president refused an audience to the representative of this great body of men who saved the nation from a possible destruction by the war-mad emperor of Germany and his ruthless hosts.

Despite the promises of the republicans during the last election that they would pass the soldier bonus bill if they were placed in power, Harding in two speeches since the bill has come up in Congress, has discouraged legislation which would give aid to the men, who are most in need of it now.

Even though Harding may not be in sympathy with the bonus plan he could have done no less than grant an audience to McNider and hear what he might have to say in behalf of the plan for soldier relief.

The Water Route.

(Bartlesville Examiner)
River and canal sailors in another generation may be as common in our country as railroad men.

The transportation problem is getting tangled into such a snarl that chances are the United States will have to follow older countries and develop a great connected system of inland waterways. The ship, as a competitor of the box car, might work wonder at making the railroads furnish good service cheaply.

There is talk now, for instance, of a Great-Lakes-to-Ocean waterway to enable ocean ships to travel as far inland as Chicago and Duluth via the St. Lawrence River.

Scores of similar projects will be proposed within the next 20 years. Many of them will be built.

Our country has 28,000 miles of potentially navigable rivers. Only 4,000 miles of these have been sufficiently improved to make them dependable for navigation.

Time was, when river traffic had the field to itself. As in other countries, our civilization is spreading inward from the coasts followed the rivers.

Then came the railroads. Following the Civil War, a period of great railroad expansion threw many bustling river towns into eclipse.

The rivers are coming to life again. Uncle Sam at present is improving 192 harbors, 294 rivers and 83 canals and other waterways.

Government expenditures on these projects in the fiscal year 1921 totaled more than $57,000,000.

The water-borne commerce of United States totaled 369,269,026 tons in 1920, the latest year for which complete figures have been gathered.

Of this, 111,139,686 tons were handled on the Great Lakes and 43,187,893 tons on rivers and canals.

Roughly, 31 tons of freight and were handled on Great Lakes, rivers and canals for each 74 tons of exports and imports by ocean routes.

It is an enormous foundation on which to build a mighty freight traffic on inland waterways.

Study of Delinquents.

(Fort Worth Record)
Determining the causes of criminal tendencies and "deciding treatment that is tremendously influential at the formative period of life vastly outweighs in importance any decision of a criminal case that may take weeks in court or perhaps fill pages of the newspapers. This is the opinion expressed by Dr. William Healy, director of the Judge Baker Foundation in Boston, in a report just made public by the United States labor department through the children's bureau. He points out that individuals mentally normal are misdoers quite apart from matters of mental capacity and that many feeble-minded people live decently and do their work well.

The report of Dr. Healy relates to "the practical value of scientific study of juvenile delinquents." He declares that all delinquent children need scientific treatment, and that mental tests alone do not suffice to give a true picture of the child's personality without study of his home, companions, play, employment, special temptations and bad examples, quality of schooling and other conditions of environment, taken together with his whole mental life, his lack of knowledge or his misinformation, his habits, secrets, grudges and ideas.

"A much larger proportion of mental defectives is to be found among delinquents as they appear in court than in the ordinary population, perhaps ten times as many," says Dr. Healy. In his report it is pointed out that scientific work in juvenile courts is a natural expression of the modern demand for results, since imprisonment alone does not check crime. Numerous cases are cited in which complete scientific study, including that of social environment, aided to change the career of a so-called "born criminal."

Probably no more important work is being done today than the scientific study and training of juvenile delinquents. It is material to "aid the everyday judgments of any who wish to deal understandingly with juvenile delinquents," but can be carried out successfully only by those trained and having an interest in this field. It is insisted that if the lack of scientific study impedes progress more workers must be trained, and if expense deters from individual studies in the courts it must be considered what the cost of diagnosis amounts to in the light of the heavy cost of a delinquent career.

WOULD KILL AGED AND CHILDREN AS HIGH TAX PROTEST

Peter Veregin.

Peter Veregin, leader of a strange Russian religious sect, the Doukhobors, which is said to have 1000 followers in Canada, proposes that the whole tribe drown "its children under 10 years of age and the aged as a protest against exorbitant taxes. After this was done Veregin would have his followers abandon their farms and roam about the country preaching the teachings of Christ and living as a "vagrant working class."

Titles Made Valid.

TULSA, Mar. 7.—The decision rendered by the supreme court today reversing the decision of District Judge Owens makes valid the titles of 128 residents in Crosbie Heights, one of the wealthiest residence sections in Tulsa, which exempt of improvements has an assessed valuation of $1,500,000. Judge Owens held that Marjory Partridge Goins, who married Alf Goins two days before the decision was rendered, was the rightful owner.

PIONEER MAKER OF VALENTINES HONORED YEARLY

(By the Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Mar. 8.—A curious collection of old valentines which the Arts Club exhibited here recently recalls the story of a woman whom the students of Mt. Holyoke college toast every year on February 14. She was Miss Esther Howland, who made the first American valentines in which printed verse was used. Her work is liberally represented in the collection, which is that of Mrs. Emma B. Hodge, and which was loaned to the Arts Club for the purposes of the exhibit by the Art Institute of Chicago.

Miss Howland was graduated from Mt. Holyoke in 1847, when higher education for women was an innovation. Valentines were first made in England, and England had a monopoly of their manufacture for many years. In fact, a valentine from England, the first which she had seen, gave Miss Howland the idea upon which she based her work. It was two years after her graduation when she was at her home in Worcester, Mass. The English valentine, which is in Mrs. Hodge's collection, has an elaborate border of lace paper with flowers pasted upon it. A tiny note reposed in a small pocket in the center. Miss Howland's father, who was a stationer, imported a few of these valentines and his daughter thought she could improve them. She made some from lace paper, colored paper and paper flowers, and persuaded her brother, who traveled for her father, to take them with him as samples. He returned to bewilder her with orders amounting to $5,000. Miss Howland enlisted the aid of her friends to fill these orders. The following year she had to double her working force. Soon she found herself with a valentine factory on her hands, and was importing materials from Germany. She made further innovations, including the use of silk. She originated the idea of embossing lithograph ornaments which was utilized by a firm in Germany. Meanwhile the American or Worcester Valentine became famous, and in a few years Miss Howland was sending out goods worth $100,000.

FRANKLIN ANNOUNCES FOR COURT CLERK

The News is authorized to announce the candidacy of L. E. Franklin for the office of Court Clerk, a position he has held for the last two years. He is asking for the office again on his record, which he believes will compare favorably with that of any other public official in this or other counties.

Mr. Franklin is well known to the voters of the county. He is agreeable, willing to serve the citizens at all times, and has been on the job all the time since he assumed office. If re-elected he promises to give the same efficient and prompt service that he has in the past.

The office of court clerk needs a clerical man of ability and also one who can take care of a volume of business with dispatch and give information to hundreds of citizens from time to time. The friends of Mr. Franklin says that he meets all these requirements.

Dress Rehearsal on H. S. Operetta Held And Cast Is Ready

Semi-final dress rehearsal for the Ada high school operetta was held at the McSwain theatre this morning. The entire cast was out and the play produced in full. Instructors said the cast was in good form and that the operetta will prove a success. Miss Inez Donaldson is in charge of the entire affair.

The title of the play is "Miss Cherry Blossom," an Oriental operetta. It will be given by musical organizations of the high school Thursday evening. The regular show bill will start at 7 o'clock. Immediately following the picture bill, the curtain will rise on the play and an hour of delightful entertainment is promised.

COLLEGE DIAMOND SQUAD WILL START WORK TOMORROW

The East Central baseball squad will work out together for the first time this year tomorrow afternoon. Coach Thompson said today, following the playing off of two games in the tournament to decide the class championship of the school. Most of the equipment has arrived and the squad will go into active training at once.

In the first two games played the seniors won by a score of 21 to 14, while the junior-prep nine doubled the senior-boys and won 14 to 7. Both games showed that the players were by far better able to hit the ball than they were to play it on the bases.

Men who are making a good showing up to this time are Vernon, Waner, Crawford, West, Tinkle Evans, Miller, Harrison, Morrison, Norman, Williams and Burkhardt. Others expected to show up better later in the season.

Coach Thompson stated that he expected it would be some time before the teams started working out for track, but said that tennis courts were now open and that he invited all tennis players of the city to come out and use them.

The college schedule for baseball starts March 17 and by the middle of April will be at its height.

9-POWER TREATY WILL SUPERCEDE OLD AGREEMENT

WASHINGTON, Mar. 8.—The Lansing-Ishii agreement has been completely superseded by the 9-power treaty relating to China now before the senate, President Harding informed the senate today in response to a resolution adopted by the senate. The executive order that the 4-power treaty did not reverse China and does not directly bear upon the Lansing-Ishii notes.

"The so called Lansing-Ishii agreement," the president declared, in a letter to the senate, "has no hidden effect whatever, either with respect to the past or to the future which is in any sense in contrast with the principles and policies carried in the 9-power treaty."

The president added that the four-power treaty does not refer to China and hence does not directly bear upon the Lansing-Ishii notes, which relate exclusively to China, and said that the four-power treaty in his opinion "was an exact part of the plan to create conditions in the far east at once favorable to the policies we have long advocated and to an enduring peace."

"The negotiations of this treaty," the president said, referring to the 9-power pact, "is in itself the most formal declaration of the policy of the executive in relation to China and supercedes any executive understanding or decision that could possibly be asserted to have contrary effect. If the senate accepts the treaty, the principles and policies which the treaty embodies will be supported and enforced by a binding international agreement."

Germany Considers Owen's Plan of U. S. Reserve Bank Basis

BERLIN, Mar. 8.—The plan of Senator Robert L. Owen of Oklahoma for the establishment of an American federal reserve foreign bank has been carefully considered by German financiers, bankers, and industrial leaders, who admit an interest in the suggestion but have generally reserved expression of opinions as to its practicability. Senator Owens, who has been making a tour of Europe to determine the attitude of continental statesmen and business men towards this proposal, had advocated the establishment of a banking institution with a capital of $500,000,000 gold to supply Europe with a gold basis for a medium of exchange for international and domestic trade.

'Mollusc' Comedy To Be Played Tonight For School Benefit

All plans had been completed today for the presentation in the college auditorium this evening of "The Mollusc," a three act comedy by the Redpath Lyceum company under the auspices of the college.

The cast for the play will be: Tom Kemp—Edwin Evans
Mr. Baxter—Charles Fleming
Miss Roberts—Marion Evensen
Mrs. Baxter—Lillian Booth
Act one is a scene in the sitting room of the Baxter home. Act two is the same scene on the following morning. The third act concludes the comedy in the Baxter home a week later. The scene is laid in a country home, about 30 miles from London. Those who have seen the play declare it to be one of the best as an entertainer.

VETS' BONUS BILL WELL EXPLAINED

Details of Remuneration to Former Service Men Are Discussed By Bodies.

A detailed, though summarized, explanation of the soldier "bonus" adjusted compensation bill now before congress is contained in a special communication from Samuel Bolles, national adjutant of the American Legion, to Gilbert F. Polly, commander of Norman Howard post of the veterans' organization.

The bill, according to Adjutant Bolles, is grossly misunderstood by the public. Following is his explanation of its terms:

1. Adjusted compensation bill, that has been before congress since March 1920, offers five choices to the veteran of the World War:

1. Adjusted pay, at the rate of $1 for every day of home service and $1.25 for every day of foreign service. Maximum payment, $500 for home service and $625 for overseas service. Payment to be made for service in excess of sixty days.

2. Adjusted service certificate in the form of a paid-up 20-year endowment policy, to the value of 3.38 times the amount that would be received in cash. The face value of the policy would be paid to the veteran at the end of 20 years, or, if he dies in the interval, to his beneficiary. Loan values are provided.

3. Vocational training aid of $1.25 a day while taking an educational course. The amount thus paid is not to exceed 140 percent of the amount due in cash.

4. Farm or home aid, to the extent of 140 percent the amount due in cash.

5. Land settlement.

Any Veteran Eligible.

Any man or woman who served in the armed forces of the United States at any time between the dates of April 6, 1917 and November 11, 1918, is eligible for compensation.

This bill was introduced into the House of Representatives by Joseph W. Fordney of Michigan, and into the Senate by Senator Porter J. McCumber of North Dakota. It is an adaptation, with few changes, of the bill drafted by Legion representatives in March, 1922, at a conference in Washington. The aim of the Legion conferees was to make the bill broad enough to give every man the kind of compensation he could use; also to stress other options besides cash, so that the payment of compensation might be as productive as possible for benefit of the country at large.

The cash feature was provided for the benefit of men who would be unable to avail themselves of any of the other four features. Opponents of the bill have concentrated attack on this feature, forgetting the other four options. But the Legion men who presented the bill to Congress and members of that body who heard them, were convinced of the unfairness of refusing any compensation to a man simply because he was unable to avail himself of one of the four more productive options.

Insurance Feature Good.
The insurance feature of the bill originated in the Senate and is considered by many to be the most valuable and most likely to appeal to the average veteran. Any man who is not actually in want will make every effort to avail himself of this offer. If he served 100 days in this country and 200 days in France, his cash compensation would be $350. But he could waive cash and get an endowment policy of a value of $1,183.

More than a hundred thousand disabled men have availed themselves of the vocational training offered by the government, seeing in it a chance to better their condition in life. The educational feature of the compensation bill is expected to appeal to thousands of veterans who are not physically disabled. They will be given tuition at accredited schools and will be paid $1.25 a day while studying, until they have received 140 percent of the amount due them in cash. The man who had $350 coming to him in cash could go to school for 392 days, being paid $1.25 a day during that period.

May Purchase Home.
The same man could apply the $4.90 due him, which is 140 per cent of the cash $350, toward purchase of an approved farm or city or suburban home. The money also could be applied toward payments on a farm or home already purchased, or to pay for improvements.

If the veteran desires to aid in settling undeveloped lands, the fifth option of the bill will enable him to do so. Provision is made for the establishment of reclamation projects for the development and improvement of vacant land. This may be government land or land purchased by the government. So far as possible, these projects will be located in state, the state paying part of the purchase price of private lands bought for this purpose. Ex-service men are to be employed on the projects when they are ready for settlement, the sale price to include the purchase price of the land, plus the cost of improvements. The terms will be part-down and the balance in 40 years at five percent interest. The veteran can apply his adjusted service pay as first payment on a farm in such a project.

S. S. S. Fills Out Hollow Cheeks, Thin Limbs!

Men and women—whether you will ever build yourself up to your normal, just-right weight depends on the number of blood-cells in your blood. That's all there is to it. It's a scientific fact. If your blood-cell factory isn't working right, you will be run-down, thin, your blood will be in disorder, and perhaps your face will be broken out with pimples, blackheads and eruptions. S. S. S. keeps your blood-cell factory working full time. It helps build new blood-cells. That's why S. S. S. builds up thin, run-down people. It puts firm flesh on your bones, it rounds out your face, arms, neck, limbs, the whole body. It puts the "pink" in your cheeks. It takes the hollowiness from the eyes, and it foils Father Time by smoothing out wrinkles in men and women by "plumping" them up. S. S. S. is a remarkable blood-purifier. While you are getting plump, your skin eruptions, pimples, blackheads, acne, rheumatism, rash, tetter, blotches are being removed. The medicinal ingredients of S. S. S. are guaranteed purely vegetable. S. S. S. is sold at all drug stores, in two sizes. The larger size is the more economical.

Shaw's DEPARTMENT STORE

Announcement!

DEAR FRIENDS AND CUSTOMERS

Much is being said and written nowadays about thrift and economy. Some advise certain investments which are accepted as being safe; while others preach restriction on the quantity of purchases on certain commodities. Without seeking to cast reflection on either of the above mentioned plans, it seems to us there can only be one solution for the financial problem now confronting us.

THIS IS OUR PLAN: Cut the price on the necessary things of life to compare with the wages of the salaried man and the producer. This has been the policy of this store for several months and has proved satisfactory to us and customers as well.

"My Druggist" is a common expression of those who are satisfied with the treatment they receive; and the one to whom that will apply has rendered some valuable service. Competence, reliability and courtesy have been the leading factors in establishing the above mentioned phrase and as we desire to have it said often and generally about us, we offer the above qualifications and go "them one better," namely: The same quality drugs and merchandise at a cheaper price—FOR CASH ONLY.

Compare these prices with the prevailing prices of articles mentioned and then act on the dictation of your own conscience.

SERVICE CENSUS DRIVE WILL START ON MARCH 15

Next week, beginning March 13, will be a busy one for the American Legion in Oklahoma. That time has been set by department headquarters of the veterans' organization at the state capital as the "zero hour" for opening the Service Census Drive the Legion is conducting.

The drive is being put over by the American Legion in each state, and every veteran of the World War in the entire United States will be interviewed, and a record made on a separate questionnaire for each man, concerning his status and needs. This is being done by the Legion in an effort to acquaint every ex-service man and woman with the rights and privileges they are entitled to as a veteran of the World War, to list their needs and unused privileges, and help them properly apply for relief which has been extended to others under similar circumstances. Forty-eight questions are to be asked each veteran covering matters of physical disability, hospitalization, compensation, vocational training, victory medals, $60 "bonus" paid at discharge, back pay, Liberty bonds, allotments, and other subjects. The veteran is asked to express his choice of the five options of the Adjusted Compensation bill pending before Congress which the Legion has been working to get passed. Choice expressed at this time will not bind the man, but is intended simply to get a line on the terms of the bill preferred by the service man. He is also given a chance, if he does not need his adjusted compensation, to give it a "Rotary Fund" for loans to disabled comrades needing help. Each man is also asked if he has employment or knows any "buddy" that needs a job or other aid.

Legion headquarters has received 60,000 questionnaires, and is busy this week wrapping and forwarding them to the various posts over the state. An additional 30,000 questionnaires will be received later. The Legion, as an organization representing all ex-service men and women, will render a great service to the individuals, the community and the government by aiding the veterans to properly make necessary claims and to forward them through proper channels. While the drive is intended primarily as one to render service to those in need, it is expected that once veterans who have not yet joined the legion find that it is dedicated to service along the line mentioned above, they will join the Legion in large numbers.

SERVICE MEN DISCUSSED

At a joint meeting of The American Legion and its Auxiliary in Leavenworth, Kansas, some form of memorial to the men who lived in that community and who gave their lives in the World War, was discussed. It was suggested by the president of the auxiliary unit that a row of trees be planted on one of the avenues. If this plan is decided upon, the trees will be planted in the near future, and memorial services will be held on Arbor Day.

"I just hurt all over. I couldn't sit, stand or lay with any comfort, my back, sides and head all gave me a great deal of trouble."

"I was especially bothered with a tight swimming in my head. My people were very uneasy about me and sent me to my relatives to see if a change would do me any good."

"I stopped at a sister-in-law's and she being a great believer in Cardui, asked me why I didn't use it. I decided to try it."

"I had only taken a few doses when I felt it would do me good. This gave hope and I used it right along and it did me just a world of good, since which time I have never ceased to praise Cardui."

IF YOU HAVE CASH
GIVE IT NOW, SAY
THESE BROTHERS

MUNCIE, Ind., Mar. 8.—If you have money to give away there is no time like the present, is the philosophy of Frank C. Ball. His three brothers hold the same thought and a fifth brother, now dead, held that theory during his life time. The four living brothers have just given $1,000,000 for educational and welfare work. They operate an immense fruit jar manufacturing plant here.

"We are giving this $1,000,000 because we believe it better to do such things while we are living than allow others to do it for us after we are dead," explained Frank C. Ball, who is president of the manufacturing plant. "Life at best is short and uncertain and the time for men who have it to do good with their money is when they can personally direct the use of it. Nobody has ever found a way of taking his money with him to wherever he goes after he dies. We are glad to make these gifts to these institutions and for these purposes, not because we seek appreciation but because we believe it to be a good thing to do and because of the satisfaction we receive in knowing that we may be responsible to some slight extent in aiding humanity."

The gifts were made in the names of Frank C. Ball, Edmund B. Ball, George A. Ball, Dr. Lucius L. Ball, and the estate of William C. Ball, and are to be distributed as follows:

For eastern division Indiana State Normal School, located in Muncie, $250,000 to be used for additional buildings.

For public auditorium in Muncie, $150,000.

For permanent endowment Muncie Y. M. C. A. $100,000.

To Hillsdale College, Hillsdale, Mich., as endowment $100,000.

To James Whitcomb Riley Memorial Hospital for Children at Indianapolis, $25,000.

To Delaware county Tuberculosis

Association for endowment $25,000.

For building fund of Masonic Temple, $110,000.

For hospital extension work in Muncie $100,000.

The remainder, amounting to $140,000, is to be disposed of in ways not yet ready for announcement.

The gifts just announced are in addition to numerous other donations made to local institutions during the last several years. It is estimated that their aggregate gifts will total as much as those just announced.

(By the Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Mar. 8.—More than 20,000,000 children in the United States will study temperance and the benefits of prohibition Sunday, March 12, according to an announcement made today by Mrs. Stella B. Irvine, superintendent of the Sunday school department of the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

By observing Temperance Sunday, the church will furnish a nationwide reply to the recent light wine and beer decision of the American Federation of Labor, Mrs. Irvine said in the announcement.

Taking as a Golden Text: "Wine is a mocker, strong drink a brawler; and whosoever erreth thereby is not wise", many of the Sunday school teachers will sketch the history of the prohibition movement, pointing out the benefits already being realized and widely recognized as proved by statements of bankers, business men, health officials, city authorities and others, she added.

M'Cormicks, Divorced, to Continue Aiding Art and Civic Enterprises

CHICAGO, Dec. 31.—(Special)—The divorce granted Edith Rockefeller McCormick, daughter of John D. Rockefeller, from Harold F. McCormick, president of the International Harvester Company, did not surprise relatives and friends of the couple. It had been known for a long time that the daughter of the Standard Oil King and her husband were estranged and the divorce action had been rumored for some weeks. The brief and straightforward manner employed in obtaining the decree before Judge Charles A. McDonald deprived the gossip lovers of sensations they had been led to believe might crop out when the case was finally heard. The only testimony given was used to prove Mrs. McCormick's charge of desertion—that McCormick left her in Zurich, Switzerland, May 27, 1918.

During the proceedings there was no mention of alimony or of settlement of property rights, although the suit, by its very nature, involved questions affecting two of the greatest fortunes in America. After the court had adjourned the lawyers declared that no legal settlement had been made. It is understood, however, that both Mr. and Mrs. McCormick are to retain possession of all property held in their own names. Arrangements are to be made later as to the disposal of property in which both have an undivided interest.

Mrs. McCormick retains home, Mrs. McCormick, it is declared, will retain the McCormick residence at 1000 Lake Shore drive, while her husband will continue to reside in the country home in Lake Forest, one of the show places of the country.

Civic and artistic enterprises which owe their principal support and in many cases their very existence to the munificence of the McCormicks are not to suffer by reason of the divorce. Principal among these is the Chicago grand opera. The relations between the McCormicks and the opera had already been arranged.

It had been announced that with this year they would cease to be guarantors of the opera, on which they have spent something like $5,000,000. Both will continue, however, to support the opera with large contributions to the general guarantee fund, and it is reported that they intend to give to it $3,000,000 of scenery and stage effects, which is their property.

The McCormicks were married on November 26, 1895, in the Fifth Avenue Baptist church in New York City. Mr. McCormick was about twenty-five years old at the time and his wife was about the same age.

The wedding attracted widespread attention at the time as the union of two great fortunes.

The McCormicks came to Chicago to live. Both took a great interest in the civic and artistic activities of the city and were among the most generous contributors to its charities.

The part which both played in enabling Chicago to enjoy the highest grade of grand opera somewhat overshadowed their work in other fields, but there was hardly anything which had to do with the city's social or artistic life in which they were not prominently identified.

Mrs. McCormick only recently bought land estimated as being worth $200,000, which she turned over to the forest preserve for zoological gardens, which is planned to be one of the greatest in the world.

Goes to Europe for Health.

Eight years ago Mrs. McCormick was forced on account of her health to leave Chicago and for several years she made her home in Italy and Switzerland. While in Italy she showed her appreciation for the talent of Verdi by contributing $11,600 as a prize for a design for a statue of the composer. Most of her time, however, was spent in Zurich. She attributed the remaining of her health to synthetic psychology and took a great interest in it. She announced at one time that she intended to devote herself to promoting its cause.

It was during her stay in Switzerland that the estrangement between her and her husband took place. Rumors of it had preceded them when they finally returned to the United States last fall. They came on different steamships.

Finally when they arrived in Chicago early in October Mr. McCormick answered the various rumors by making a formal statement that he and his wife had separated. Mr. McCormick was accompanied on his return to Chicago by his son, Harold Fowler McCormick. Muriel McCormick, the eldest daughter, has also thrown her lot with the father. The third child, Matilda McCormick, is a minor, and is now in school in Europe.

Cold winter winds, snow or rain mean nothing to the members of the Munn Dunlap Post No. 22 of the American Legion at Stigler this winter. They sit around roaring wood fires in the two huge fireplaces of their new log hut and swap yarns of camp and field.

Desiring a home for the post members started many months ago by getting a site and permission to cut logs from a wood lot near Stigler.

The room comfortably seats all members on meeting nights and is used as a club room at other times. The total cost of the hut was only $2,500.

Claremore Asks House.
Civic organizations of Claremore have joined with the Legion post of that place in asking the citizens to vote a bond issue of $50,000 for the purpose of erecting a community building as a war memorial. It is planned to have a splendid structure built with club room facilities for the McKinney-Montgomery post and its auxiliary.

STATE CAPITAL SEEKS HELP FOR TWO VETERANS

Information is sought by state headquarters of the American Legion at the capital building to aid two disabled men to obtain compensation. One asks the names and addresses of several men who served in Co. L, 142nd Inf. The other asks for names and addresses of men who served in Base Hospital No. 112.

Paid Membership High.
The American Legion of Oklahoma closed the year with more paid members than at any time in its history according to a report compiled at state headquarters. It is predicted that the present membership will be increased materially by the membership campaigns being conducted in nearly every county in the state. The paid membership on December 31 was more than 17,000.

NEBRASKA WILL ASK LAWMAKERS FOR ROAD FUNDS

(By the Associated Press)
LINCOLN, Neb., Jan. 2.—Members of the Nebraska legislature will be called in special session about February 1 for the primary purpose of enacting legislation with a view of raising money for road construction through a tax on gasoline and considering such other subjects, which, in the opinion of legislators, should be included in the call that formally will be issued by Governor Samuel R. McKelvie within the next two weeks. Pending expressions from members the governor has set February 1 as the date but, he advises them, he can as easily call the session on January 18 or January 25.

The gasoline tax as proposed by the governor would be assessed on tourists as well as Nebraska consumers and tentatively has been suggested as one cent per gallon. Such a tax would relieve the strain on real property tax, principally farm land, the governor explains, which, together with the decline in prices of agricultural products, has made the burden of taxation on farms doubly hard, he says.

Four other subjects are outlined in the letter the governor has written to members of the assembly which he informs them has his consideration. On these, as well as other pieces of legislation which legislators might have in mind for consideration, the governor asks their opinion, admonishing them at the same time that the session must be as brief as will be admitted by the absolute necessities of the occasions.

Slashes in wages of state employees, maintenance and construction appropriations, amendments to the state bank guaranty law similar to the operation of the South Dakota law, reappropriation of the accumulated balance of the capitol building fund, if necessary, and the amendment of a special tax commission to sit throughout the remainder of the biennium for the purpose of observing needed revisions in the tax code of the state to be proposed at the next regular session of the legislature, are the subjects which Governor McKelvie publicly has announced for consideration by the special session.

The Nebraska legislature numbers 100 representatives and thirty-three senators. Several vacancies are known to exist in the legislature at the present time, due to appointments to federal positions and other causes, but Governor McKelvie states he will not call special elections in any district to fill vacancies. The attorney general is of the opinion the governor cannot appoint members under the Nebraska constitution.

NEW YORK'S DRYS FIRE ON WHISKEY

Liquor Sleuths Will Track Hootch Sellers to Their Lairs New Year.

NEW YORK, Dec. 31.—New York City's prohibition enforcement battalion, 115 strong, reinforced by several of E. C. Yallowley's special liquor sleuths, received today from Ralph A. Day, state director, final instructions for carrying out the most rigid observation of the law over the New Year holiday.

They were to be scattered through the city with orders to make no distinction between Broadway and the Bowery, Fifth avenue and Fourth street, but to press the "dry" crusade into every quarter where nermymakes gather. Special vigilance will continue until Tuesday, it was said.

Prohibition officials predict surprises for many restaurant proprietors. They made no secret of the fact that enforcement officers had reserved tables in some of the most prominent restaurants in the White Light district. The large hotels also were included.

Additional warnings were issued against the danger of drinking strange and poisonous concoctions sold as "hootch," with which a dozen deaths are attributed since Christmas. Hospital records have shown in the last few days that desperate chances are being taken in the number of cases of illness requiring prompt medical aid after liquor drinking.

PEACE DOLLAR TO BE LATEST COIN

New Silver Issue Due to Appear Tuesday, Fresh From the Mints.

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 31.—The new silver dollar of 1921—the peace dollar—will be ready for distribution Tuesday, it was said today at the treasury. Coinage of the new dollar is being rushed at the Philadelphia mint, officials said. The first dollar of the new series struck off has been presented to President Harding.

The new dollar has the head of liberty on one side and the other a dove, upon a mountain top, clutching an olive branch, struck by the rays of the sun, with the word "peace" beneath it. This is the first change in the design of the dollar since 1878, officials said, and will remain as the design of the dollar for 25 years unless changed by legislation, as the coinage laws prohibit any change in the design of standard silver dollar more often than in that period except by special legislation.

About five hundred thousand of the new dollars will be coined with the date of 1921 and after that date the dollar will carry the date of the year in which it is struck off.

There will be in all about 180,000,000 dollars of the new design coined, officials said, unless further authority is given the mint to purchase and coin silver. Coinage of the silver dollar ceased in 1905, it was explained when the silver purchasing authorized by the Sherman act had been completed, but it was resumed again in February of this year when the purchase of silver was begun under the Pittman act to replace dollars melted and sold the British government during the war.

Farmers' Column

By Byron Norrell

It is not necessary to urge the farmers of Pontotoc county to make a string of New Year resolutions to take heart and face difficulties with stout hearts. The great majority with whom I have talked have plenty of courage, the only question with them is what is best to do in order to get on their feet again. They have been hard hit, but all they ask now is how to find the best way out. The uncertainty about the boll weevil is a matter of no small concern with them. If they only knew whether the pest will be with us again or not the problem would be lessened considerably. However, from the conversations I have had with some of the most progressive farmers in the county it is settled that the first care of the coming year will be to produce the living at home. I believe more attention than ever will be given to food crops so that even if the weevil appears again they will at least be assured a living. With lower freight rates marketing conditions should improve to some extent and an outlet be found for produce other than cotton. It has become a sort of custom to blame the farmers for sticking to cotton, but heretofore this has been the only crop for which there was a sure market, hence the reluctance of the farmers to get away from it. However, other sections where cotton does not grow have become prosperous, so I believe, that favored by nature with a good soil and favorable climate such as we have, this will in time become a wonderful region of diversified farming.

The Stonewall News carries the following story about the boll weevil that may prove valuable. We would like for some of our friends to make an investigation and report results. Says the News:

A new winter home of the boll weevil was discovered on the Dr. Payne place northeast of Ardmore on Hickory Creek last week, and a sure method of exterminating the pests that hibernated during the winter months is available if every farmer will take advantage of it during the fall and winter months. Nearly every cotton field, and in fact every field itself, is infested with a growth now as blood or horse weed. This weed grows to considerable height, and when dried has a pithy center easily bored to from the outside. Any bug or beetle that enters to gain entrance. While inspecting a stalk field last week one of these weeds was broken into by chance, and a veritable nest of boll weevils discovered. After the discovery was made many more of the weeds were broken only to find that the same condition existed.

The theory is that the egg is deposited by the boll weevil in the summer and hatches out inside the weed, at any rate all weevil discovered in the stalk were full grown and ready for business as soon as the next crop of cotton made an appearance. As soon as the discovery was made the torch was applied, and in the manner the weevil will be destroyed before they have a chance to get to work next season.

Every farmer should prosper by this discovery and burn every vestige of vegetation bordering on cotton fields that would be likely hiding places for the weevil, if this is done the prospects for a good crop another year will be much better.

A press dispatch from New Orleans, states that turkey sold for 65 cents per pound at that place the week after Christmas. This was 10 cents more than the market price before and during Christmas week. The same dispatch states that there is apparently a great shortage of turkeys this year. This promises well for the coming season, for this county can produce thousands of this popular bird.

Here is the weekly bulletin issued under the date of December 31 by President Whitehurst of the state board of agriculture:

Temperatures recorded at the Weather Bureau here are slightly above normal for the first 29 days of December. For the same period the precipitation was 1.47 inches below normal. Probably the coldest weather of the month was between the 20th and 25th.

Figures released on the 29th by the Bureau of Markets and Crop Estimates forecast 44,293,000 acres sown to winter wheat in the United States this fall. This is a decrease of 1.2 per cent as compared with the acreage sown one year ago. The condition for the United States on December 1 was 76 per cent.

Oklahoma's acreage sown to winter wheat this fall is estimated at 3,550,000 acres. The condition figure of 47 per cent for the 20th of December promises less than half a normal crop in 1922.

Much of the wheat land in Oklahoma will be replanted to other crops in the spring. Many farmers are undecided as to what crop to fall back on. Spring barley should be given consideration. This crop has proven as money-maker in the wheat sections and no doubt will prove its worth under ordinary conditions.

The green bug is reported in Canadian, Blaine and Pawnee counties. The heaviest infestation seems to be in Canadian county. These reports are from our correspondents, but have not been verified.

Many of the larger flour mills throughout the wheat district have shut down temporarily while others are running on part-time schedule. The demand for wheat feeds is particularly strong at this time, but all mills seem to have a surplus of flour on hand, and of course the mills cannot see their way clear to fill orders for by-products when only 74 to 78 pounds of wheat feeds are obtained in the manufacture of the average barrel of flour of 196 pounds.

In increasing interest seems to have been taken in the offering of the War Finance Corporation. From December 19th to the 23rd inclusive, the board approved 347 advances in the United States, aggregating $12,006,000 for agricultural and livestock purposes. Of this amount, $170,000 was placed in the banks of Oklahoma.

A recent article published in the Ada Weekly News, under date of December 22 began as follows: "The First National Bank of Ada recently shipped in 100 milk cows, and the Farmers & Merchants Bank of Roff a car load which are being sold to the customers of the bank on easy terms."

Some of the other banks throughout the state should investigate this proposition. The Board of Agriculture believes that this is one of the greatest steps taken by any community towards diversified farming. This will not only lighten the farmer's grocery bill, but will enable him to accumulate a little ready cash by marketing the surplus.

G. A. Fell, living near Cherokee in Alfalfa county, realized $1,143 for eggs from 300 hens in one year's time. Mr. Fell terms this as an "Agricultural Sidekick" on his farm. Let's have a lot more of these "Side-lines" on our Oklahoma farms.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

WAIT PATIENTLY:—Wait on the Lord: be of good courage, and He shall strengthen thine heart: wait, I say, on the Lord.—Psalm 37:3.

THE BOLL WEEVIL.

Much comment has been made since the story was published in the News a few days ago, announcing that some farmers thought they had found boll weevils in the roots of cocklebur weeds. The publicity given to the matter brought a letter from Little Rock, Arkansas, and cotton men from throughout the southern part of Oklahoma are examining the roots of these weeds and trying to decide what the bugs found there actually are. A member of the News editorial force spent part of Sunday afternoon in the fields in the company of a farmer. Many weeds were examined, even the roots far into the ground. Weevils were found, but they were not boll weevils.

It is the opinion of many farmers that there are no boll weevil here now. We hope they are right. Anyway we believe we have a good chance to make an average crop of cotton another year. At the same time, we believe it will be advisable for those who can to go ahead with the collection of dairy stock and poultry and hogs and raise enough feed to keep these in good condition. While we want to grow cotton, and it will remain our main money crop for some time to come, we cannot depend upon one crop and have a sound agricultural basis.

Harlow's Weekly hits the nail squarely on the head when it warns Democratic candidates against the old time practice of villifying one another in the primary. Heretofore a nomination in most parts of the state has been equivalent to election, and the big thing was to secure the nomination by any means possible. Many candidates have always had the idea that the best way to win was to slander their opponents and win on their demerits instead of relying on their own merits to save the day. Naturally after a primary the Republican candidates can be depended on to use the charges against the nominees of the Democratic party that they used against one another prior to the primary. Since there has been little competition in Republican ranks for nominations they have not done much villifying of one another, hence have a very decided advantage in that particular. Mud slinging is not argument and does not get as far in these days as it did in the old days and candidates had better act accordingly, especially in this coming campaign when the Republicans promise to put up the hardest fight since statehood.

ANOTHER STYLE SHOW.

Paris sets the world's styles, but New York has claimed to be second for a decade in the matter of smartness in dress. Now American women, returning from Buenos Ayres, bring word that the capital of Argentina is far ahead of our metropolis.

Six months ago the Argentinians were wearing hats which are the boast of Fifth Avenue shops today. The difference in the seasons it seems, enables the dressmakers of those parts to supply their patrons with the latest Parisian modes always six months ahead of us.

Buenos Ayres, they report, has always kept ahead of New York in the matter of skirt shortening, and still maintains a lead of a good three inches.

Undismayed by failures of other such attempts, the disarmament conference is now getting down to the task of trying to regulate warfare by laying down rules. Poison gas is now under the ban but that does not mean that it will not be used if another war breaks out. Germany and other nations had agreed to this same proposition many years before the last war and seeing that the enemy were living up to the rule the Germans straightway sprung a surprise on them by turning loose floods of the forbidden gas. Had they taken time to fully develop this terrible weapon before using it they might have won the war before the Allies could take measures to defend themselves. Before the war was over the Germans were howling about the use of sawed off shotguns in the hands of Americans who knew how to use them effectively.

The Supreme Court has ruled that picketing which is done "in an inoffensive way with a view to influencing others" is all right. This should give added popularity to the old front gate.

The tax on soft drinks was lifted on January 1. An early return of the swallows is presided.

IF HE TAKES THE JOB WILL'S FRIENDS EXPECT HIM TO CLEAN UP THE PLACE IN SHORT ORDER

The Forum of the Press

Keep Up the Raids.

(Kansas City Journal)
The raids on the booze makers and bootleggers prove, what everybody of course knows, that the law is being violated persistently. They also prove that the police should do their part in enforcing the law and that when they do so, they secure results which at least absolve them from the blame for inexcusable laxity.

It is not expected that the prohibition law will not be violated. Every other law on the statute books is broken day after day. That is why laws must be made, because there are those who commit the offenses against which they are directed.

Murders are still committed; thieves play their practices; the dishonest and lawless prey on every community in varying degree. But there is only one inescapable rule of official conduct, just as there should be only one rule of conduct for all good citizens. That is the impartial and honest enforcement of all laws.

Prohibition is fortified by the emphatic approval at the ballot box of an overwhelming majority of the states of the Union. The individual voters of an overwhelming majority of the states had adopted prohibition before the amendment to the federal constitution became effective. Prohibition is the law of the land even more emphatically than many state laws not covered specifically by federal action. No citizen can array himself against such a law, or any law, and maintain his pretense of being a good citizen. No official can refuse to put forth every effort to enforce any law and maintain a pretense of performing his duty.

Newspapers which either openly denounce the prohibition law, sneer at it, belittle its achievements or indulge in cheap witticisms with the lawless sting plainly apparent, are not playing the part of upholders of law and order, which all newspapers should be.

The booze makers must be taught that the law must be obeyed, and honest, vigorous and persistent efforts on the part of officials to compel such obedience will always receive their full measure of credit.

The Lynching Bill.
(McAlester News-Capital)
It is difficult for the average reader to understand why a group of representatives at Washington have opposed the prompt passage of the anti-lynching measure recently proposed in the house.

lynching, and then seeing that legal justice is so swift and sure that the populace feels no need to resort to lynch law for its own protection.

(New York Telegraph)
Man, if you have a wife never try to welch on the job of supporting her. You must do it, that is the law, and moreover when you married you vowed to take care of her, and even promised to endow her with all your worldly goods. Some men there be who try to evade their duty in this respect, and some who misconduct themselves so badly that their wives divorce them.

A divorce makes no difference and should not, provided the man is the sinner. Then, we ask, what is all this talk of wiping out Ludlow street jail? Some one reports that it is the only debtors' prison left in America. That may be true, but its only inhabitants who are debtors are men who have refused to pay alimony. Some men who have lived in Ludlow have gone there and remained a certain time and secured their release. They were willing to go to prison, there to dwell, in order to evade the payment of money to former wives, and yet the latter were entitled to it. We never have held to the view that a man should pay alimony to another man's wife though. If a woman has by law cut the marital knot and goes out and walks with another man to the altar it is his cheerful business to support her—it is not the business of the first husband to pay for her keep, and let her use the remainder to support No. 2. But when a woman divorces an erring husband, and sends him out alone into the world, and settles herself down in a flat to live on the alimony that the court has allowed her, it then is the business of the ex-husband to pay it in fresh every week or month. Therefore we say, do not abolish Ludlow street jail, but rather enlarge it and put every almonial slacker behind the bars. If a man marries let him assume all responsibilities, even alimony—let him stand the gaff.

MEAT ACTED LIKE A POISON TO DAD

"I never dreamed there was a medicine that could do me the good Tanlac has done me," said Sidney H. Dad, 315 Morris St., Houston, Texas.

"After having suffered for a year with indigestion I was so run down that I could hardly get about. Meat was like poison to me and I had to eat so sparingly of everything that I was growing weaker and thinner all the time."

"Since taking Tanlac it seems like I have a new stomach, and when it comes to eating I don't pass up meats or anything else. I feel stronger, sleep better, and have more life and energy than in years."

Tanlac is sold in Ada by M. A. Waits and all leading druggists. (a)

OKLAHOMA WOMAN MAKES VALUABLE FIND

Puratone Relieves Her Long Suffering. Wants Others to Know About It.

Mrs. Minnie Bowles, who operates a hotel at Milburn, says that following a bad case of what was nearly blood poisoning she was in a general rundown condition and could find nothing that would give her relief until a friend recommended Puratone.

"After a very near case of blood poisoning," she says, "I was in such a general rundown condition that I was so nervous I could not sleep without taking a sedative, had no appetite at all, and was in no condition to carry on my business. I also had a bad kidney disorder which made me feel all the worse.

"Then a friend asked me why I didn't take Puratone. I decided to do it, and now I am sleeping splendidly, my nervousness is almost gone, my appetite is good and I am almost entirely free from my kidney trouble; in fact, I am feeling fine.

"I feel that Puratone is a real woman's friend, and not only that but it is serving fine for the general complaints of my family and they think about Puratone just as I do."

Puratone is sold in Ada by Gwin & Mays Drug store. (adv)

500 Geologists Are Expected Tomorrow At O. C. Convention

(By the Associated Press)
OKLAHOMA CITY, Mar. 8.—Between 400 and 500 delegates are expected here tomorrow morning for the opening of the national convention of the American Association of Petroleum Geologists. The convention will close Saturday. Geologists in attendance will come from practically every state in the union and from several foreign countries, it was said at the convention headquarters today.

Among the outstanding addresses scheduled is a series dealing with the geology of various foreign countries. The men who will speak and their subjects are: Dr. Charles Schuchert, Yale University, "The Geology of South America"; F. G. Clapp, New York City, "The Geology of China"; E. M. Spieker, "The Geology of British Columbia"; and F. A. Edson, of the Oklahoma Geological survey, "The Geology of Mexico". Regional papers will be read dealing with geological conditions in Oklahoma, Louisiana, Arkansas, Western Kansas, Utah, South Dakota, Washington and Mississippi. Several papers on the production of oil are to be read by Prof. R. H. Johnson, University of Pittsburgh. Discussion of structural problems in geology, paleogeography and microscopic study of well cuttings will make up the program.

The program tomorrow will start with addresses of welcome by representatives of the Oklahoma City Geological society and the chamber of commerce, with a response by George C. Matson, Tulsa, president of the association.

House Will Suspend Rules While Voting On Bonus Is Belief

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Mar. 8.—Republican leaders disclosed today that they were considering a plan to put the soldier adjusted compensation bill through the house under a suspension of the rules which would cut off amendments of any kind and limit the debates to 40 minutes.

Under this plan a two-thirds vote must be had to secure passage, but leaders believed on the basis of present sentiment among the majority members it could be obtained with votes to spare.

March 20 will be the next rules suspension day.

Raising of Federal Reserve Notes Make Charge Against Pair

(By the Associated Press)

McALESTER, March 8.—Charged with altering federal reserve notes, Harry Thompson and Etta Thompson, were held in the county jail here today. The pair is wanted at Okmulgee and Henryetta also, on similar charges.

The Thompsons, it is alleged, tried to pass a bill at a McAlester store. The clerk discovered the fault in the bill and called the police. The work is described as crude by officers. The design on the face of a $1-bill has been raised and the space at the right filled with a cipher, drawn in green ink.

ENDING OF ANGLO-JAP ALLIANCE IS DUTY OF TREATY

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Mar. 8.—Termination of the Anglo-Japanese alliance and substitution of a political system actuated by peace in the Pacific was described in the senate by Senator Lodge, republican, Massachusetts, the republican leader, and member of the American arms delegation, as the "main purpose of the four power treaty."

The Anglo-Japanese arrangement, Senator Lodge declared, was regarded by the delegates as "the most dangerous element" in this government's relations with the far east. He asserted that if the four power pact with its clauses abrogating the alliance failed, the naval limitation agreement also would be endangered, resulting in "the failure of the conference."

No entangling obligations are contained in the treaty, he asserted, and none contrary to American traditions. He characterized it as "only an experiment" but added that it was one that must succeed if the United States is to make good its professed desires to take the lead in guiding the world towards peace.

At the Court House, Tuesday evening March 6, 1922, at 7:30 p. m., I will address the voters and taxpayers of the city in the interest of my candidacy for mayor.

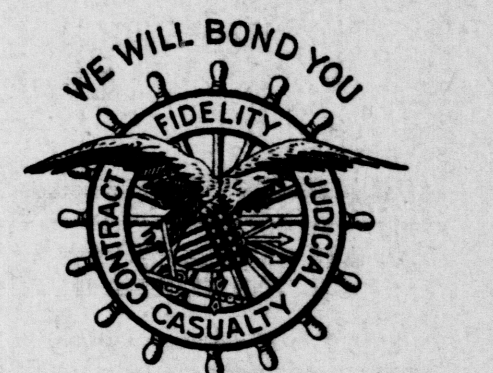

I would be glad to see every taxpayer present. Opposing candidates are invited and will be given an equitable division of time.

Very Respectfully,
U. G. WINN.

WOMEN TO OPEN NATIONAL MEET IN KANSAS CITY

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Mar. 8.—The National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs will hold its mid-year council here March 9, 10, and 11. It will be attended by the national vice-presidents from each state, the executives of the organization and representatives from clubs throughout the South-west. In connection with the council there will be a state convention of the Missouri Federation.

Mrs. Lena Lake Forrest, a Detroit, Mich., insurance woman, is president. She will preside here. Miss Madeline Phillips, executive secretary, New York City, also will attend. Miss Lota E. Kelly, Raton, New Mexico, and Miss Alice Englehart, Cincinnati, vice-presidents are scheduled to appear on the program. Each state in the Union has a national vice-president most of whom are expected to be here.

Among other speakers on the program are Count Ilya Tolstio, Mrs. Elizabeth Sears, editor of the Independent Woman, the official organ of the federation; Miss Georgia Emery, Detroit; Miss Marie Wing, Cleveland; Mrs. Augusto J. Servis, St. Paul; Miss Mary Stewart, Washington, D. C.; Miss M. E. Hoagland, Indianapolis; Miss Fay Kirkpatrick, Salina, Kan.; Miss Shmcox, East St. Louis; and Miss Mary Hart, Kansas City, Mo.

The Kansas and Missouri federations are hostesses to the council.

The national convention of the Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs will be in Chattanooga, Tenn., it has been announced. The date of the convention was tentatively set for July 9 to 14. It has been announced that a rate of a fare and one half has been secured for those who attend the meeting.

DETROIT TO VOTE ON TAKING OVER STREET RAILWAY

DETROIT, Mar. 8.—Detroit's street railway problem, storm center of every municipal election for upwards of twenty years, may be settled April 17. On that date the voters will be asked to pass upon the question of paying the Detroit United Railway company $19,850,000 for the major part of its property within the city limits. If the voters endorse the action of city officials in offering that sum for the property, the concern's lines will become a part of the municipally owned street railway system. In that event this city will boast of the largest unified municipally owned street car system in the world.

Of greater significance to Detroiters, however, would be the end of a street car war that has been the chief issue in at least a dozen municipal elections.

The fight for a municipally owned system culminated about two years ago when the voters approved a plan for a city-controlled concern, that was to be operated in opposition to the Detroit United. As a result of the election a series of suits were filed by D. U. R. each of which either directly or indirectly challenged the right of the city to proceed with the building of its own railway system. The city won each of the suits in every court into which they were carried. Legality of the election was affirmed by the United States supreme court.

Immediately following the election the city, under leadership of Mayor James Couzens, one of the sponsors of the municipal ownership idea, made plans to construct 100 miles of street railway. Actual work was begun last spring and the building program was pushed at the rate of a mile of completed trackage a day.

Farmers' Column

By Byron Norrell

Tuesday afternoon I took a tramp south of town. Some improvement has been made in that quarter in recent years.

Really it is hard to figure out how the new road south could be better located. The homes of Ed Hunter, J. L. Laughlin, I. Hodge, G. W. Busby and Charley Ray are ideally located on well shaded hills commanding a wide view. All have the same conveniences to be found in Ada offer their possessors nice quiet quarters.

Mr. Busby built something more than a year ago and has added enough outbuildings to make everything handy. I noticed a big bunch of Rhode Island Red hens ranging on an oat patch and they appeared to be equal to any to be found in any locality. A bunch of pure-bred Poland-China hogs and one or two Durocs indicate a desire for the best of everything to be had in that line. There were also some bees and with the whole valley in clover these promise well for the summer months. A large hutch contained several rabbits. Mr. Busby lost no time in putting out an orchard and in course of time will have plenty of fruit. A liberal use of white paint had added much to the appearance of the place.

Charley Ray has built on a very pretty spot and later expects to build a larger house in front of the present one. He is a strong believer in shade trees and has planted every available foot of his home in elms. He is preparing to raise a good sized garden and truck patch. I am going to keep an eye on his water melon patch along about ripening time.

Conn & Shockley's dairy is another interesting spot. Mr. Conn owns a section of fine land and much of it is in cultivation. Mr. Conn stated that he has about 75 acres of sweet clover on the place already and expects to sow another 100 acres. Just now he and Mr. Shockley are putting in some barley and will plant the entire place in feed of various kinds. Mr. Conn at this time does not figure on planting any cotton. There is a dairy herd of about thirty five cows all told, and on every hand one could see chickens, guineas and turkeys without number. The home is a comfortable brick house.

J. G. Mitchell has made a success with dairy cows and Brown Leghorn chickens during the few years he has resided at his present location and is also a first class hand with Duroc hogs. Gardening is another long suit and already peas and other early vegetables are already up. The Mitchells are well equipped for handling their large flock of chickens and raise many every year and always have a surplus of eggs. Mr. Mitchell will plant no cotton this year. He has just finished planting more sweet clover.

G. G. Davis has a first class little farm which is one of the best in this section. During the year he was my neighbor I frequently went to him for advice about my crops and occasionally borrowed plow tools from him. He used to tell some hard tales about me when he came to town and perhaps knows more than he has ever told.

C. J. Hamby lives on my place, Hoot Owl Ranch, and during the few months he has resided there has built up a good milk and butter trade in Ada. He is planning to devote a considerable acreage to truck and is hauling manure from the cow lot to the field where he will plant his truck. He is a wide-awake fellow who will make good, if present indications mean anything. The Hamby family are raising Brown Leghorn chickens and have some good hogs. There is a good orchard on the place and when living there I put out a lot of berries. These are of bearing age now and with a good season should produce a good crop this year.

It still makes me homesick to ramble around over the hills and through the woods of this little place, for I spent a very pleasant year there, and it is my hope to some day be able to build a nice little brick bungalow on the brow of the hill and retire there to spend my old age, pottering about with a bunch of chickens and hogs and a little garden patch with a few colonies of bees buzzing around.

The incubator is certainly one of the most useful inventions of the age. By its use multitudes of chickens can be raised and every day more people are making use of it to increase their flocks. The old hen is finding half of her task taken away from her and can devote most of her time to the production of eggs.

"It's the early bird that gets the worm"—we've all been pretty well agreed on that for a number of years—and its also the early cotton that dodges the boll weevil and boll worm, but, in dodging the boll weevil, there's a possibility of His Cotton Tops arising too early—so early, in fact that he'll get nipped by the frost.

That's the substance of a statement just sent out by the Extension Division of Oklahoma A. and M. College relative to spring planting.

"Early maturing cotton," this statement says, "does not necessarily mean a small boll cotton, nor an early opening cotton. There are several big boll varieties of cotton that set on and mature a good crop of bolls early, but on account of their large size they do not open as quickly as some of the early small boll varieties. However, these early big bolls are safe from the boll weevil damage quite as soon as the bolls on the early small varieties."

"In Oklahoma we should not plant small boll varieties or varieties having poor staple like Half and Half, but use only one of the big boll early maturing varieties having long, strong and uniform lint."

"Do not plant cotton in the winter or very early spring, no matter how much like summer the weather may be. Cotton is a hot weather plant and the seed should not be planted until the ground is thoroughly warm and all danger of cold weather is past. If you see your neighbor planting early and you get the fever so bad you can't resist, use some cheap seed for this first planting and save your good high priced seed until the ground gets warm enough to make the seed germinate quickly and grow off rapidly. The chances are that a cold spell will ruin that first very early planting any way. Plant as shallow as possible to get the seed in moist dirt. Cut your acreage and increase your acre yields to the maximum."

PONCA CITY—Title to 900 acres of land in the Ponca Indian country south of here is involved in an action brought recently in county court to determine heirship of nine dead Ponca Indians. The land was bought in 1921 by Wylie Bunch of Bliss, but since then a flock of heirs have appeared with the result that the title has been considerably clouded.

A monstrous fish, of a species unknown to science, has been caught in the Amite River of Louisiana. The fish is remarkable in that in place of a mouth it takes nourishment through a cauli-flower formation under its throat. It has no jaw or opening of any kind in its head, except two small double nostrils high on its head, and a pair of minute eyes. It has a backbone with vertebrae, two small fins and a smooth body.
